ENTHUSIASTIC GREETING BY GOLDFIELD CITIZENS

ALL RELIGIOUS BODIES ORDERED FROM PORTUGAL

By Associated Press.
LISBON, Oct. 8.—President Braga and associates began activity today and put into practice some of the principles which they have promised shall be the bulwark of the republic. The first step was the publication of an official decree ordering all religious bodies in Portugal to leave the country within 24 hours. Almost at the moment the decree appeared Marquis de Vanaul was placed under arrest, upon the charge of having sheltered members of religious bodies, and having concealed nuns in his home. Soldiers have been stationed in the vicinity of religious establishments to prevent attacks upon them by mobs. Minister of Justice De Costa has issued a decree ordering the release of persons detained by the monarchy on the charge of belonging to secret societies. The hoisting of the British flag over the Jesuit monastery saved the occupants from attack by the republican troops last night. One priest was killed and another wounded.

REPORTS THAT DYNAMITE CAUSED THE EXPLOSION

By Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—The investigating committee appointed by Mayor Alexander to inquire into the cause of the explosion which destroyed the Times building October 1, reported today that the explosion was one of dynamite. The explosion, in the opinion of the committee, had resulted from a placed charge of nitro-glycerine or some powerful product of nitro-glycerine. The report stated that the explosive had been placed in an alley which ran into the building on a level with the street and immediately over the Times press room.

GOOD PROMISE OF JARBRIDGE PLACERS

Charles Getsch, the well known Utah operator in charge of some placer properties in Jarbridge, Nevada, owned by prominent Salt Lake interests, left Saturday for the district. Mr. Getsch believes in Jarbridge and it is difficult for a doubter to leave him without sharing some of his enthusiasm in regard to the future of this active gold center of the Sagebrush state.

That Jarbridge is making good there can be no doubt, he states, and that the camp has placer possibilities in addition to its lode promise is evident from the results already gained in scratching the surface for the homeless yellow metal. Mr. Getsch says that he gets from six to fifty colors per pan. He gives late word in regard to the Nelson claim, where three weeks ago, the operators struck a face of ore valued at $60 per ton. The Bluster claim 200 feet lower on the hill, has rock assaying anywhere from $2000 to $5000 per ton on the foot-wall and inasmuch as the hanging wall has not yet been reached the extent of this find is not known. The Pick and Shovel, a Salt Lake and Twin Falls proposition, is now working in high grade, and leasers are securing fine results on the Pavlak and Sunflower groups. F. Bannan, he states, has ore running from $10 to $500 gold on the It claim. Last week a very rich deposit of sheet gold was uncovered on top of an old crater, which provided much interesting food for speculation on the part of the citizens of the district.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Republican Candidates on the State Ticket at Reception and Social Session Promised Support of Southerners.

GOLDFIELD, Nevada., Oct. 8.—The last day of the visit of Messrs. Nixon, Roberts, Oddie, Ahern, Legate and Booth, the republican candidates, was one of fruitfulness. Trips to the mines and about the city resulted in the making of literally hundreds of friends for the men heading the republican ticket. Everywhere they were received with hearty assurances of support and unless Goldfield has the prize collection of hot-air artists working in her mines, yesterday was a day well spent.

Throughout the early hours of the morning, and the time between 5 and 8 o'clock in the evening, the lobby of the Goldfield hotel was literally packed with the friends and supporters of Senator Nixon, T. L. Oddie, W. W. Booth and the other candidates. On every hand could be heard comments on the excellent progress made by the visitors and the friendly feeling which has been developed in this city.

In the evening the visitors entertained at an informal reception in the rooms of the Republican club, the rooms being packed to capacity. Speeches were made by Senator Nixon, E. E. Roberts, T. L. Oddie, W. W. Booth and Con Ahern. John W. Legate, tired from the strenuous campaigning of the last few days, remained at the meeting but a few moments. After excusing himself he retired to his room at the Goldfield hotel to prepare for today's automobile trip.

The good, old-fashioned republican spirit and enthusiasm was thoroughly evident throughout the meeting. The informal talks of the candidates were applauded copiously, and the statement by W. W. Booth that he is certain nothing can prevent the success of the republican ticket at the November election was cheered to the echo.

Mr. Oddie, discussing the attacks made on him by the democratic press, said:

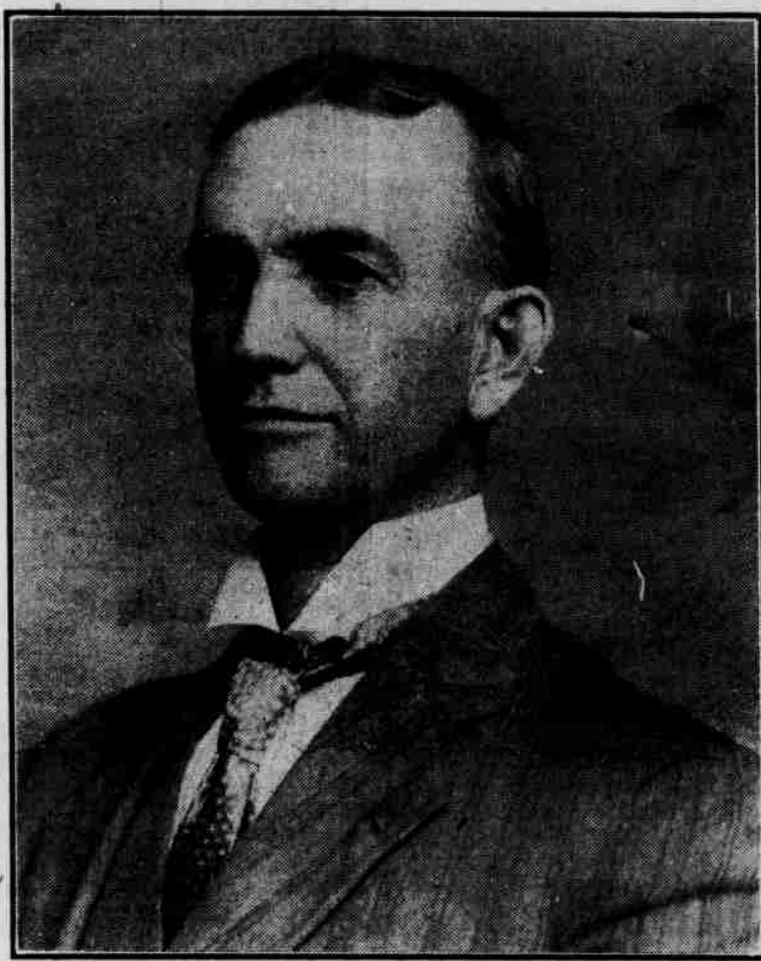

"They are really amusing, so childish and puerile are they. Personally I believe, and I think my fellow candidates coincide with me, that a 'knock' in the Goldfield News will amount to nothing more nor less than a 'boost.' At least that is what my friends tell me, and only tonight a man came to me and said: 'I was going to vote for Dickerson for I am a democrat, but since seeing that cartoon in the News I have made up my mind to vote for you.' By the way, I noted on the foot of that cradle Nixon and I were occupying the letters

'S. P.' and I wondered if those initials did not stand for 'Successful Pair?'

Now I want to nail another lie. The opposition is reporting about that I am unfriendly to labor and cites my vote on the boycotting bill. I was asked to present it and refused to do so until certain changes had been made. These changes were the modification of the text of the original bill and its amendment to include the blacklisting clause. I thought what was good for the boss would be good for the miner, and it went through so that each got some good out of the bill."

Senator Nixon followed with one which we labored in endeavoring to bring about an amicable settlement. I had many friends among the men, as had Mr. Wingfield, and I am certain a satisfactory adjustment could have been brought about but for the attitude of some of the leaders and their radical refusal of all terms except those proffered by themselves. "Boys," I said then, "we want to be your friends, and will comply with the terms of the stipulation we have practically agreed upon, but we must have our own watchmen as a protection for our property. But remember, above all things, we are your friends and are looking

of his characteristically logical speeches, giving at the opening a biographical sketch of his life and progress from a poor farmer boy to his present position in life, all by his own effort and native ability to take hard knocks and come back for more. In speaking of the labor troubles in Goldfield several years ago, about which so much has been said by his opponents, the speaker said:

"None of you can perhaps appreciate the difficult conditions under out for your best interests all of the time."

"We don't want your friendship," said the leader. "All we want is to have you afraid of us."

"Now I have lived in this state for twenty-five years and I never had to be afraid of anyone. The republican party is the same. It need have no fear; it needs no apologist. If republicanism is not right I would like to have someone tell me what is. If republicans are not the friends of labor, I would like to

BARTLETT FALLS HEIR TO OFFICE FURNITURE

Congressman George Bartlett is away ahead on the closing of gambling. Charley Stout was looking sadly at a magnificent oaken far table when the congressman entered his place of business. "Look here, congressman," he said. "This table has won me a tidy fortune. I probably will never have to use it again for the same old purpose, but I think it would make a nice office desk for you, and it may bring you the same luck that it has me. You may have it if you will pay the cost of carting it away." The table now is part of the congressman's office equipment.—Reno Gazette.

FIRST CAR OF STRUCTURAL STEEL FOR REFINERY

The first of twenty cars of structural steel that will be required by the Nevada Sugar company before its big plant one mile east of town is complete, arrived at Fallon Thursday and is already at the factory site ready for assembling. All told, something like 100 cars of building material and machinery will be required to make the plant complete, and some idea of the stupendous task will be conveyed by this statement. In the meantime, as the factory progresses, favorable comment is heard from various quarters over the coast, about the pluck and skill that is entering into the project. Many men, high up in the world of finance, are singing the praises of this country and of the men who are helping to make it. United States Senator George S. Nixon is among those who feel kindly to the undertaking, and his $10,000 subscription is a good testimonial of his faith in the enterprise. This subscription was guaranteed at the outset. Now, as matters progress, Senator Nixon has expressed himself greatly pleased at the business-like management of Fred Hinze, and he believes implicitly in the success of the undertaking, and is spreading this favorable sentiment wherever he goes.

DR. WICHMAN IS NOW CHARGED WITH MURDER

RENO, Oct. 7.—Following the discovery of the charred human bones of a child in the ash pan under the kitchen stove in the private sanitarium run by Mrs. J. A. Talbot, Dr. F. H. Wichman was this morning formally charged with the murder of Mrs. Emma Russ.

From San Francisco comes the information that Mrs. J. A. Talbot has made a clean breast of her part in the affair, and as she was present at the time the remains of the child were burned in the kitchen stove and was also present when the operation was performed upon Mrs. Emma Russ which caused her death, the case against the doctor appears to be particularly strong.

Following the serving of the warrant charging murder Dr. Wichman was taken out of the city prison and placed in the county jail. Chief of Police Burke and District Attorney Woodburn left San Francisco tonight with Mrs. Talbot in custody and will arrive here tomorrow morning. When the bones of the infant were discovered they were gathered together and taken to the office of the county physician where they were laid out in the shape of a skeleton.

They were subsequently sealed and boxed by Acting Chief of Police Buchanan and captain of the state police and placed in a safety deposit vault. The authorities have sent to Boston for a museum exhibit of a male child for comparison at the trial.

SHERIFF'S POSSE IN PITCHED BATTLE WITH FUGITIVE

By Associated Press.
WINTER, Minn., Oct. 8.—A posse of ninety men is engaged today in a protracted battle with John Dietz, wanted on several indictments, who has barricaded himself in a cabin at Cameron's dam, where for several days he has resisted arrest. Hundreds of shots have been fired and it is reported that Dietz and his son Leslie are both wounded. A late rumor says the cabin has been blown up with dynamite.

SLOT MACHINES ARE IN DISPUTE

Attorney General Stoddard is busy preparing an answer to the letter of District Attorney Tilden of Esmeralda county regarding the status of slot machines under the new anti-gambling act.

The county official writes asking if slot machines are to be barred from use and prohibited the same as roulette wheels, faro layouts and crap games.

The long missive dissects the law and seems to show that such machines as are used in saloons and tobacco shops for coins in the slot, are not included in the devices that are barred.

Mr. Stoddard will give the matter careful attention and will file an answer to the district attorney today or tomorrow. Apparently there is no doubt as to the intent of the legislature that passed the law, but whether they made specific mention of devices that cover slot machines is undecided.
